III. Art:

- A. Made a typo with the email address and it is actually lmcartclub.com. The recent paint night was a minor success, where they had like 5 people show up. Next paint night is on 11/1/18 in cc 307 and it will be Day of the Dead themed involving sugar skulls and making decorated bags. RSVP at their email for $5 off.

IV. United by Dreams:

- A. Partnered with SACNAS, Puente, and La Raza they are celebrating Day of the Dead from 11:00-2:00pm in the outside quad on 11/1/18. They are doing altar for anyone who has passed away. People who want to honor their loved ones can give United by Dreams or the president photos and they will put them up. Send pics by next Wednesday. Each club is selling their own food. SACNAS is selling tamales, La Rasa is selling hot chocolate and mexican bread, Puente is selling nachos, United by Dreams is unsure. United by Dreams is having coffins to represent immigrants too.

- A. On Wednesday, they are selling nachos outside the nursing department of the cafeteria from 10:00-12:00pm and the proceeds go to their graduation applicant ceremony and they will buy study guides for their entrance exams.

VII. AMSA:

- A. They are no longer selling cake pops.

VIII. LMCAS:

- A. Spoke about a lactation room being created for women or people who have a child. There was also a discussion around feminine hygiene products that are needed in women's bathrooms, so there's a discussion to make those free on campus basically right now there's already one location so you can go to student life if you needed those but they do know right now the ones in the women's bathroom not being refilled. They will start having them sold for 25 cents. They will let people know more about those two things next week because they're just still being discussed.

- B. One of the deans is looking at some alternatives for parking and one is renting or asking the city of Antioch to rent out that spot where the pumpkins are being sold to see if that could be a permanent parking spot. Other alternatives are being looked at.
- C. There's going to be an equity walk soon which is going to be pressing all the buttons on campus and making sure they work they will let people know more about that not next week but the following week.
- D. Follow the LMC Student Life Instagram account to get updates on the campus. People can talk to Jessica Quintos to get more push for their events on Instagram. LMCAS also agreed to fund $300 for the Halloween event.
- E. Tue Rust, the math teacher, is looking to create a new major called, Social Justice, to look at inequality. He plans to have people write research papers about things in their environment and then through this new major, he plans to create an actual change in order and start a Grassroots change. The major is still in discussion.

VIII. Shenanigans:

- A. For advertisement towards the Halloween event, Adrian Montemayor had ushers pass out flyers for it after each showing of Becky Shaw, and it was just finished. Attendance of at least 70 or higher were at the showings and got flyers. He also advertised it during the Impact Conference. He tried posting on Instagram for the LMC Student Life Instagram account, but there are a lot of technical issues with that. People can contact him to get big posters for $35 to advertise for their clubs. There are also pocket folders within the bulletin boards that have flyers you can take. With the table situation, 7 clubs have signed up so far. Other clubs can sign up until Thursday at 5pm and then after that if you need electricity or if you want sell something, Adrian can't really do anything about that. Bought everything for construction already. Event ends at 8:30pm. Still looking for a clean up crew to work from 8:30-10:00pm, and he is willing to give volunteer hours to any members of other clubs.
